MIDLAND "PELLETED" SEEDS

QUESTIONS ON PELLETED SEEDS . . . AND ANSWERS

- Q—"What are Pelleted Seeds?"
 A—Pelleted Seeds are carefully selected, highest quality seeds surrounded with several coats of stimulants and fungicides.
- Q—"What does this 'coating' do?"
 A—Briefly, the coating provides an ideal, disease-free condition around the newly planted seed, insuring stronger germination and growth.
- Q—"Doesn't a pelleted seed require more water?"
 A—If the season is unusually dry or if the seeds are planted in light, sandy soils, additional water will be required.
- Q—"Do pelleted seeds require special planting instructions?"
 A—Just follow the simple 'Planting Directions' on the package label. Or, plant the same as you would ordinary single seeds but cover only enough to hold pellets in place. Do not tamp down soil after planting.
- Q—"Are all pelleted seeds' 'coats' the same?"
 A—No. Different vegetables and flowers need different types and amounts of stimulants and fungicides. The exact coating is determined only after scores of tests.
- Q—"What good does the fungicide coating do?"
 A—The fungicide kills disease on the seed itself, and also in the immediate soil surrounding the seed.
- Q—"Does the 'coat' supply enough fertilizer?"
 A—The amount of fertilizers are sufficient to supply food during the early stages of growth. It is not enough to carry the plant through to maturity. The customary use of fertilizers is recommended.
- Q—"Do pellets stand the frost better?"
 A—Yes. Any seed requires warmth for germination, but the fungicide in the pellet tends to prevent seed rot under cold, wet conditions. After emergence the seedling will not withstand freezing.
- Q—"Is it possible to eliminate transplanting?"
 A—Yes. The larger individual seed makes it easier for you to space your planting and thus eliminate most transplanting.
- Q—"Will pelleted seeds grow most anywhere?"
 A—Pelleted Seeds cannot perform miracles. Suitable ground, proper planting, and favorable weather are all necessary for the greatest possible growth.

After the weather has become warm, set the plants 1 foot apart in rows that have been hilled up to 6 inches above the level of the ground. They will grow rapidly and make a luxuriant, green, bushy growth. All they require is deeply prepared, well drained soil. Try a row in the garden this year and you will never be without them again.

Quality TABLE BEETS

Time to Plant—Sow quite early in the Spring about April 20 and at intervals, from then until about July 25.

Soil Preparation—A light, rich soil is best. Do not use fresh manure for it will cause the roots to become scabby. Old, well rotted manure well mixed with the soil is excellent; also a standard vegetable fertilizer with a high potash content.

Planting—Sow the seed thinly in rows and later thin out so that the plants will stand about 2 inches apart. Allow about 1½ feet of space between rows.

1 ounce of seed should sow a 50-foot row

5272 Crosby's Egyptian, Breck's Arlington Strain. Illustrated on page 32. 50 to 55 days. This strain is unequaled for its fine shape, color and quality. CABBAGE—All-Season Crop

Crispier, tastier and more tender when home grown. Produces an abundant crop in a small space—very easy to grow. Can be had over an extremely long season.

Time to Plant—Early Cabbage may be started indoors in a coldframe as early as March 15 or in the garden from April 20 until about July 10. Late varieties should be sown during May.

Soil—The soil for Cabbage should be deep, rich and well drained. Wet, sour soils will only cause failure.

Seed Sowing—Sow in flats or in sheltered seed beds of finely pulverized loam. Broadcast the seed thinly over the surface and cover lightly (no more than 1/4 inch) with finely sifted soil.

Culture—When the plants are large enough to handle thin out or transplant so that they will be far enough apart to develop properly. Early Cabbage may be transferred to their permanent positions in the garden from late April on. Late Cabbage for Winter use should be set out not later than July 15. The Sweetest SWEET CORN is Home Grown

Time to Plant—Sweet Corn is a rather tender plant and therefore seed should not usually be planted until about May 1 and then only if the weather is settled and reasonably warm. Plantings may be made at intervals, from that time until about July 1 using early varieties for the later sowings.

Seed Sowing—In the home garden it is best to sow Corn in rows which should be spaced about 3 feet apart. The seed should be sown very thinly; covered to a depth of one inch and the resulting plants thinned to stand about one foot apart. In larger field plantings the usual practice is to plant in hills spaced at least 3 feet apart each way. Four or five plants are allowed to each hill. 1 pound of Corn should plant a 200 foot row

All varieties are suitable for freezing

Japanese SEEDLESS Watermelon

- 6276 80 days. Imagine eating a big, juicy serving of delicious, sweet Watermelon with not a single hard seed to interfere with your enjoyment—there will be a few undeveloped seeds, but they're soft and they'll be unnoticed, like those in a Cucumber. You can now grow this Melon right in your own garden and easily too. It has the well-known hybrid vigor and produces husky, disease resistant vines that bear a fine crop, with a very high sugar content. Firm, dark green rind and colorful flesh of superb quality.
- The seeds you sow are very hard and need a high temperature to germinate. They should be notched or soaked in water for several hours before planting in warm soil. With them you should plant another early variety, such as Harris Earliest for cross-pollination. One plant of this standard variety will serve as pollen plant for 5 to 10 seedless plants. Try this new revelation in your backyard this year. Pkts. only (12 seeds) $1.00

VEGETABLE PLANTING CHART

In order to simplify the planning of your garden and so that you may have your seed requirements on hand in good season, we have prepared the following vegetable planting table. The dates given must by necessity be approximate. Weather conditions vary so from year to year that hard and fast rules in regard to times of planting are impossible. Also, these dates are planned for the latitude of Boston and allowances must be made for warmer or colder climates. Our estimates on the number of plants, or the length of row that an ounce or a pound of seed will sow, are moderate. In many cases many more plants will result and if great care is taken in handling, the seed will sow a row longer than that specified. ● In spite of variations such as are mentioned above we believe that you will find this chart helpful.

Delivery—January and February

One of the loveliest of home pot plants; as easily grown as the popular African Violet and similar to it in habit of growth. The gorgeous blooms, however are much larger—3 inches or more across—and infinitely more colorful. The foliage is rich and attractive and of a velvety silver-green color.

We have selected three of the most striking varieties and offer bulbs of these with the full assurance that you can grow them successfully in your own home. A single bulb planted in a 6-inch pot, will give a display that you'll never forget. Start them in January or February and grow them in the house when the weather is cool and on the porch or in the shaded outdoor living room during the warm Summer months.
